Whig and Courier.

The Building of Fort Pownal.—Oration of Rev. Dr. Thurston.

[CONCLUDED.]

No mention is made of the appointment of any one to this office. But it is known that the physician of the Fort, Dr. Wm. Crawford, father of the late James Crawford, a respectable and wealthy merchant of Castine, also officiated as chaplain. He preached in a small brick chapel, just back of the Fort, built by Col. Goldthwaite and Francis Bernard, in the fulfillment of an engagement with the Waldo proprietors. In consideration of a grant of 2700 acres in the region of the Fort, they had engaged to settle 80 families, and an Episcopal minister, and to build a church—an engagement never but partially fulfilled. In the chapel they built, Dr. Crawford preached several years, [probably three or four.] Different accounts are given of the character of this man. By one who remembered him well, he was represented to me as a very kind, worthy, and respectable man of Scotch descent. He was a man of ardent passions, and at one time had a serious quarrel with Col. Goldthwaite. The Sabbath following, he preached from the text (Prov. 15, 17) Better is a dinner of herbs, where love is, than a stalled ox, and hatred therewith. The effect on the Colonel was so happy that he invited him home to dine with him, and they were friends again.

The following anecdote furnishes presumptive evidence that the chaplain was not specially favored of making Sermons:

There was a man belonging to the garrison by the name of James Martin, who was observed to be absent from Church on the Sabbath. The preacher called on him to know the reason.—Martin replied, he could not see the necessity of attending on his ministry any longer. Why? said the Doctor. Because, replied Martin, I have heard your sermon so often that I have it all perfectly by heart. Said the Dr., let me hear you make good your assertion. He accordingly repeated very accurately his discourse, nearly in the doctor's own words. "I declare," said the doctor, "I must alter my method of preaching in future."

Before the building of Fort Pownall there were no English settlers in the valley of the Penobscot. It was one vast wilderness. But now that the garrison afforded protection and security, the tide of population soon began to set in this direction. Between the years, 1760 and 1772 all the towns washed by these waters between Camden and Bangor on the one side, and Castine and Brewer on the other, were penetrated by hardy yeomanry, designing here to make a home for themselves and their descendants. All the towns within these limits, save the two recent ones Searsport and Stockton, received acts of incorporation between 1773 and 1812. Belfast in 1773, and Brewer in 1812.—Altho' the growth of these towns has not been rapid, compared with many towns in the West, yet the change of the country has been great.—In 1850 these towns contained a population of more than 60,000, and property to the amount $10,400,751. They now pay an annual state tax of over twenty thousand dollars. Where a hundred years since stretched one wide unbroken forest, there now stand smiling villages and flourishing cities, the home of intelligence, refinement and bliss.

Perhaps some further particulars of the early history of the region contiguous to the Fort, and the men who settled here may be expected.

Joshua Treat, the ancestor of the great and respectable family of Treats now inhabiting several surrounding towns, is spoken of by Gov. Pownal as Lieut. Joshua Treat, and was employed by him at Fort St. George's, when on his voyage to the Penobscot, as interpreter in an examination there had of some Indians. He evidently was an officer in that Fort. Some have supposed he came to Fort Pownall as a soldier, and gunsmith. But Whipple's Acadia says "During the year 1759, Lieut Joshua Treat arrived at this Fort in a ship from Boston loaded with government stores for the Fort, where he remained and he was the first actual settler on the Penobscot river." The truth undoubtedly is that he had been an officer in the Fort at St. George's, but when Fort Pownall was built, that at George's river was dismantled and abandoned. Lieut. Treat being a gunsmith by trade soon came to this place—settled near the Fort and pursued his trade not only at the garrison but with the Indians.

Between the time of the settlement of Mr. Treat 1759, and 1775 several men from whom have descended large families, settled these shores, Zetham French in 1766—Benj. Shute and Henry Black 1769—Miles Staples near the same time. His son Crawford, born in 1771 was the first male white child born in the place; Dr. Crawford of the Fort being the attending physician; the child was named for him. James Nichols settled at the shore 1773, where the village of Searsport has since risen. These, six families, with two others, which settled at the Harbor soon after the revolution—John Park and Eli'y Pendleton, were the progenitors of a numerous posterity. Their descendants now constitute no small share of the inhabitants of Searsport, Stockton, and Frankfort, and are scattered into various other places.

At the close of the revolutionary war there were 23 families in that territory afterwards incorporated as the town of Prospect; and probably not much more than 100 souls. Deep poverty pervaded the little community. One well informed respecting those days has the following account of them:

"The times were hard indeed. Provisions were scarce and dear. Few men ate flesh more than one day in a week the year round; and many not that, but now and then a little venison. Many often could not break their fasts until the clam banks had supplied them. Bread Corn was scarce, and when they had it they were obliged to go to Belfast, Castine or even Camden to have it ground."

One is at a loss to understand how in such deep poverty there could be reared a race of such stalwart, hardy men as were the first generation grown upon these shores. They were not only poor—short of provisions and the means with which to purchase, but every thing they bought was dear. At the Fort was a truck house for the purpose of trading with the Indians and the settlers. From an account book here kept from 1772 to 1777, we learn what was the price of articles of merchandise. Let me give the prices current, as made out from this book:

Molasses, £1 per gall.
Cotton—Wool, £1 per pound.
Shoes,	[illegible]	3	per pair.
Paper,	[illegible]	15	per quire.
Flax,	[illegible]	8	per lb.
Tea,	3	[illegible]
Chocolate,	[illegible]	15
Moose meat,	[illegible]	6
Shingles,	3	[illegible]	per M.
Coffee,	[illegible]	16	per lb.
Corn,	2	[illegible]	per bush.
Wine,	2	6	per gall.
W. I. Rum,	2	6
N. E. [illegible]	1	8
Vinegar,	[illegible]	15
Cider,	[illegible]	10
Tobacco,	[illegible]	[illegible]	6 per lb.

[illegible] stances, it is judged that they made a free use of alcoholic liquors. In looking over the account book, on some of the pages, one third of the charges will be for rum, and on some others, nearly one-half. Against the most respectable names of that day, you will sometimes find frequent charges of 1-2 pt. rum 3-2 and perhaps at the same time 1-4 lb. tea, 1s. 2 or 7-7. Using ardent spirits freely at such a price, will partly account for the poverty of the early days. Yet, so strong was the conviction of their necessity—or so imperious the demand of appetite, that they would go in debt for W. I. Rum, at 2s, 3d a half pint.

But let us not suppose that these fathers were sinners above all men. It took their sons more than half a century after they had passed away, to make the discovery that ardent spirits were not necessary for vigorous and successful labor—and that total abstinence is the only sure remedy against the evil of intemperance.

The season of the revolution, was a time of privation and peril, as well as poverty to the early inhabitant. This fortification having been dismantled and destroyed, afforded no protection to the citizens. Castine was in the possession of the British in 1779. The people were required to take the oath of allegiance to the King of England. The inhabitants of Belfast, then an incorporated town, and the only one in the valley of the Penobscot, rather than take the oath, left their homes and returned to N. Hampshire, from whence they came. Most others took the oath of allegiance. Still this did not save them from various annoyances. There are many now living, who remember the alarm and terror following the defeat at Castine, in 1779. A part of the vessels of the American fleet fled up the river, and were pursued in the night by British vessels, which kept up a firing upon the shore as they proceeded. The inhabitants fled to the forests for safety. Parents took their children to some deep glen, out of the reach of the enemy's shot. There wrapping the little ones in blankets, and laying them upon a rude bed of boughs, they watched them with sleepless anxiety. Still the flash of hostile cannon illumined the dark forest, and the balls whistled through the trees, making havoc of trunk and limb, to the imminent hazard of the unconscious sleepers at their roots. There yet linger among us, some individuals, whose memory reaching back fourscore years, calls distinctly to mind that fearful night. They recollect with what fear and trembling they gathered round their more anxious parents, and were led by them to the dark forest, the home of the wild beast, that they might escape the rage of civilized men.

They sent a small party to Mt. Ephraim, to burn the house of Richard Stinson, with whom lived his father and mother, Ephraim Stinson and wife. Among the party was one Turner, a refugee. When they came to the house, Turner fired into it, and the ball passed through the post of the chair in which the old gentleman was sitting. They plundered the house of what little was worth carrying away. Turner said he would have done more damage, but the sight of one of the old man's daughters there, a young maiden to whom he took a strong fancy, prevented him. He afterwards married her.

While the British had possession of Castine, they frequently sent their boats across the bay for plunder. Subsequently, the Americans kept a small force at Camden for the protection of the inhabitants of that vicinity. Sometimes, small parties from thence would come as far as Belfast, and stop in some of the deserted houses. A small party, of which Richard Stinson was one, had passed a night in one of those houses. In the morning, one of their number went to the shore to shoot wild fowl. A party from Castine, commanded by one Armstrong, had just landed, and they took him prisoner. The better to deceive the men still remaining at the house, they marched him from the shore with his musket on his shoulder. The Americans seeing them approach, and supposing them friends, went out to meet them. As they met, a struggle ensued. Stinson, though a small man, was brave and strong. Being summoned by Armstrong, to give up his gun and surrender, he dropped it, knocked aside the muzzle of his enemy's, sprang in upon him, seized him around the waist and threw him. In the struggle, a British soldier stabbed Stinson through his right arm. He called to an American to come to his aid, who shot Armstrong in the head and killed him. Some of the small shot entered Stinson, but he and all his party escaped with their lives.

These incidents in the history of the early settlers, must suffice to illustrate the perils and inconveniences they suffered. A full recital of all they encountered would be necessary to know the entire indebtedness of their descendants to them, for the manifold blessings they now enjoy.

Let the memory of those pioneers be cherished with respect and gratitude. They were benefactors to their posterity. They subdued for them the wilderness. They perilled all to procure, establish, and transmit the precious boon of Liberty.

Little did the men who erected Fort Pownal, or the men who under its protection, first settled the shores of our noble Penobscot, apprehend what changes the succeeding century would witness. Had some seer with prophetic vision, looked down to this day, and foretold what we now see, he would have been deemed an enthusiast, if not a fit subject for a lunatic asylum. Standing on this promontory, and speaking of things to come, as if already present, he might have said:

"Instead of the dark forest lining the shores, I see smiling villages and flourishing cities, with their stately dwellings and lofty spires.—Instead of one solitary truck house for all this valley, I behold marts of business on either bank. Some merchant princes make their influence felt in both hemispheres. Instead of the frail bark of the Tarratine, these waters are whitened with the commerce of nations. Instead of a dependent province with a few thousands scattered along her shores and rivers; Maine now stands a sovereign State, with over 600,000 people, with an influence reaching around the globe, and with a commerce extending to every ocean, and every sea. Instead of a few colonies spread along the Atlantic slope, dependent on a foreign power, and often vexed and harrassed by that power, I see 33 sovereign States, with their nearly 30 millions of souls, united in one mighty confederacy, and taking rank among the great nations of the earth.—Already she leads the commerce of the world, and grasps a continent in her arms."

HOW RAILROAD ACCIDENTS SOMETIMES OCCUR. The editor of the Boston Herald relates the following occurrence, as happening within his own observation:

It was a nine o'clock P. M. train from Chicago to Toledo, and we reached the half way station about one o'clock in the morning. Here the train going east met always the train going west, and it was the duty of the one which arrived first, to switch off upon a side track and allow the other to pass. The train bound westward usually arrived first, and had "bothered" the other train by its dilatoriness in moving on the side track, and this had engendered a quarrel between the conductors of the trains. On the night previous to the collision we are about to mention, these amiable conductors had a conversation, in which West said to East, "Look here, old fellow, if you don't just move your train to that side track a little livelier, I'll [illegible] into you some night!" "Well, old hoss," answered East to West, "you just run into me if you dare, and see what you'll make by it!" It was on the next night we happened to be on board the train, and when we were approaching the White Pigeon station, the passengers being all in a dozing state, and, so far as possible, in a recumbent position, we came in collision with the westward train, which was coming slowly to the switch, in order to take the side track. The shock was a light one as our train had slackened its speed, and the other was nearly at a stand still. The only damage was one man so mangled that he died the next day, a shoulder of another passenger broken, an ankle of a brakeman crushed, an emigrant boy badly bruised, two locomotives smashed—two baggage car knocked to splinters, and the ends of half a dozen passenger cars staved to pieces. We learned from the depot master that the conductor of the westerly train had delayed moving to the side track until he had himself urged him strongly to go, and the night being dark and no sufficient signal given, our engineer could not avoid the collision. We believe the Superintendent of the road scolded hard on account of the expense, and threatened to discharge the conductors if they broke any more cars.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES: COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republicans of Bangor are requested to meet in Ward Caucuses, at the usual Ward Rooms, on Friday Evening, August 12th, at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of electing three delegates in each Ward to attend the Republican County Convention, to be held in this city on the 18th day of August instant.

Per order of City Committee.

"If Douglas shall carry the Charleston Convention, or if that Convention shall drive him out of the party, and he shall become the candidate of the Northern democracy, the practical difference between the Northern democracy and the Republicans will be so slight as not to afford ground for a very spirited contest, and Douglas will naturally get a great many republican votes that would in other circumstances have been against him."—Springfield Republican.

Is this true? We have supposed that the difference between the Republican party and Mr. Douglas, as he now stands, was wide, practical and insuperable. Let us see.

1. Mr. Douglas accepts the Dred Scott dogma, and avows his purpose of abiding by and maintaining it. This declares that slaves are property by virtue of the Constitution of the United States. And from this dogma of the Supreme Court and Mr. Douglas, it follows that they may be held, and must be protected, as property, not only in all the Territories, but in all the States, and that the law of the Constitution, as interpreted and administered by the Federal Court, is all the slave code that is necessary for the security and protection of slaveholders in the Territories; and further, it is a fair inference from this doctrine of Mr. Douglas, that the laws against the slave trade are indefensible in principle, and ought to be repealed. If 'black men have no rights which white men are bound to respect," and if this is the foundation of their chattelship, as the Dred Scott opinion intimates was the belief of our fathers, if the rightful and normal condition of negroes, as Chief Justice Taney and Mr. Douglas assume, is that of property, with what propriety can the traffic in them be made piracy, and what good reason can be given for such a restriction upon what is in itself a legitimate subject of commerce, as is contained in the statute against the slave trade?

2. Mr. Douglas is not only in favor of the prompt and summary execution of the fugitive slave law, but we suppose he believes it to be in itself right and just, correct in principle, and unexceptionable in its details.

3. Mr. Douglas does not consider slavery an evil in itself; and therefore holds that it is not a question of legislation, but one simply of "climate, soil, and self-interest."

If any one should dispute the fact that Mr. Douglas stands by the Dred Scott opinion, we would refer him to that gentleman's speech delivered in New Orleans on the 6th of December last, in which he says;

"The democracy of Illinois in the first place, accepts the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Dred Scott, as an authoritative interpretation of the Constitution. In accordance with that decision, we hold that slaves are property, and hence be on an equality with all other kinds of property; and the owner of a slave has the same right to move into a Territory and carry his slave property with him as the owner of any other property has to go there and carry his property."

With all respect, we submit that there is more than a slight difference between these propositions and doctrines, and those [illegible] the Republicans hold to be practical and fundamental.—That Mr. Douglas himself regards his position as more distinctly antagonistical to that of the "Black Republicans," or "Abolitionists," as he calls them, than that of other democrats, is evident from the following extract from his New Orleans speech:—

"And let me say to you that if you oppose this just doctrine, if you attempt to exempt slavery from the same rules that apply to every other kind of property, you will abandon your strongest grounds of defence to the assaults of the Black Republicans and Abolitionists.

Nay, so much more regardful is this northern slave-owner of the rights of slavery than are the southern slaveholders, that in the same speech he complained of the latter for not meeting as they ought the northern argument drawn from the Declaration of Independence, saying, "and I must be permitted to tell you that many, even of you Southern men, have quailed under that argument, and failed to meet it."

And yet, if we understand the Springfield Republican, even if Mr. Douglas shall be nominated at Charleston, and become the representative and standard bearer of the democratic party and of its principles by virtue of such a nomination, he "will naturally get a great many Republican votes!" We think the writer in the Republican is naturally—a ninny.

The Belfast Journal is terribly shocked that the Kansas Constitutional Convention should have failed to give negroes the right of suffrage—a right which although it properly belonging to them, in our opinion, as to many other classes who enjoy it, is yet withheld in many of the old States. The Belfast paper, however, while it undertakes to make the Republican party responsible for this unjust exclusion by the Kansas Convention, quite forgets that the democratic members of that Convention not only went for refusing the right of suffrage to the colored population, but insisted that free negroes should be driven out of the State altogether. They were willing to have slave negroes to perform the most familiar personal services for them—but the smell of a free nigger they couldn't abide any way. The democratic organ also forgot to state, when charging the Republicans with inconsistency in this matter, that the clause in question was adopted by the votes of the democratic members, aided by a few only of the Republicans; and that the great body of Republican members utterly opposed it.

The Plymouth Celebration.

If one is justly pronounced a public benefactor, who, in the exercise mainly of his physical powers, manages "to make two blades of wheat grow where but one grew before"—surely the Poet is entitled to a high meed of praise, who, in the exercise of his mental gifts, brings, from the treasury of a pure taste and fine imagination, an effusion that shall prove a lasting gem in the coronal of song.

If we do not much mistake, in our estimate of intrinsic worth, the following Chant, written by John Hannibal Sheppard, Esq., of Boston, (formerly of Wiscasset,) for the laying, by the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, of the Corner Stone of the National Monument at Plymouth, on the 2d inst., will commend itself as appropriate for adoption, for all future laying of Corner Stones by our Masonic Brethren. We know not a happier introduction, anywhere, of the ancient emblems of the Order, the "Corn, Wine and Oil." G. K.

CHANT.

Written by R. W. John H. Sheppard, Esq.

Whene'er our ancient Brethren went
To build a Church, or Monument—
The Head-Stone laid with skill and care,
They pour'd the Corn of Plenty there.

Wine was the next oblation given;
Emblem of Gladness—dew of Heaven;
For the pure grape—without alloy,
Will cheer the heart with hope and joy.

Then with the Oil of Peace they sought
A blessing on the work they wrought.
Thus was the stone an altar made,
Where bloodless sacrifice was laid.

Lord God of Hosts! To Thee alone
We look, and lay this Corner Stone;
Here let a Monument arise,
Where Faith stands pointing to the skies.

New Publications.

Ancient Dominions of Maine. By Rufus King Sewall, author of "Sketches of the City of St. Augustine." Bath: Elisha Clark & Co. 1859.

This valuable historical work, has also the publishing imprint of Crosby & Nichols, Boston, and Sanborn & Carter, of Portland. It has received favorable notices from acknowledged authorities in matters of local and general history, and is a valuable compilation of such facts as are in any way known of the aboriginal history and the early English settlement of an important portion of our State. It embraces "The earliest facts, the recent discoveries of the remains of aboriginal towns, the voyages, settlements, battle scenes, and incidents of Indian warfare, and other incidents of history, together with the religious developments of society, within the ancient Sagadahoc, Sheepscot, and Pemaquid precincts and dependencies."

It treats, first of the Ante-Colonial period—then of the period of Discovery—the period of Settlement—the Indian Wars—the wars of the English Revolution—the period preceding the American Revolution—and the American revolutionary period. The work adds some natural and remarkable features developed in a class of historic remains exhumed from extensive ruins discovered within the precincts of Pemaquid and Sheepscot. These remains consist of vestiges of human life and human homes, and in traditional rumors, and Indian imagery "painting everywhere the names of persons and places, with a legible significancy"—and they are found in interesting localities upon and near the Damariscotta and Sheepscot rivers.

The book is for sale by E. F. Duren.

It has been the object of the editors,—and one in which they have well succeeded,—to present music of a higher order adapted to the worship of all Christian denominations, to combine simplicity with true musical effect,—and to select music that will [illegible] of the hymns [illegible]

Welcome Withdrawal. John Mitchel returns to the land of his fathers, discontinues the Citizen, transfers its few subscribers to the New York Day Book, (which he terms "a very staunch Southern paper") and writes an affecting letter to his friend, L. Riding on a Cowcatcher. N. P. Willis and others recently made an excursion over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Mr. Willis gives an amusing account of a ride upon the cowcatcher. He says:

"We had reached Martinsburg, on our return—retracing in sixteen hours the four days route of exploration, and, of course, traveling at full railroad speed—when our kind official entertainer, Prescott Smith, pointing to the front of the engine, asked if I would like to ride there. The thought delighted me, of course, and I took my seat at once on the sort of gridiron wedge, in front of the locomotive, built for throwing to the right or left any number of stray cattle on the track. With the sun intensely bright, and the thermometer all day at ninety-four degrees, my black iron seat was not the coolest, and the glowing admiration of the Martinsburg boys, who gathered around in the few minutes that I sat alone on the cowcatcher, in front of the station house, made it promise, at first to be too warm an experience. Presently, however, I was joined by another of our party, to whom my example had proved tempting; and, with Prescott Smith on one side of me, and Thompson, (of the Southern Literary,) on the other, I felt a little more reconciled to the risky possibility—that of being wiped off with my two brother authors, by any cow that should cumber the track, or, in other words, served up to fate in a literary sandwich with forced cow-cumbers!

Well—the iron steed gave his accustomed snort, (which it takes pretty good ear-drums to enjoy as you sit under his explosive diaphragm) and off began to rattle the fore-foot we bestrided. Behind glided the streets and people of Martinsburg, and the hot-air along with them—for to our exquisite delight, it grew cool enough in the second or third minute. Smoke, cinders, and second-hand atmosphere, were all fanned to the rear. With the accelerated speed, the rush of air was a strife of unseen caress, a myriad of soft fingers stroking back the hair upon one's temples, and pulling the corners of one's beard, like the shampooing by the daughters of Eolus—(a little imaginative, perhaps, but remember there were three authors on the cowcatcher!)—while the handkerchief with which I attempted to blow my nose was so forced up my nostrils as to make me sneeze. The "sleepers" or braces across the rail track, at first separate and distinct, confused into a solid plank. Cow after cow came in sight, and in the next instant had a narrow escape of our rather-be-excused bosoms—pig after pig, idem—idem flocks of sheep, grazing horses, drunken men, and Irish children. What a gauntlet of accidents runs a common cowcatcher, to be sure!

"But to be thus telegraphed in one's hat and boots, strangely removes one's early prejudices. The way we jumped chasms and skimmed ponds, popped across rivers and cleft open hills—shot into caverns and under mountains, and spun on the other side as if nothing had happened—skirted precipices and rounded bluffs—all at the same pace, and with no manner of recognition of mortal man's common hindrance and obstacle. Why it amounted to a flight of fancy! It was thought-travel—ghost flitting—angel's errand-going (or rather "Adam's Express" before the fall)—a realization, in fact, of two of my own once imaginative questions, in an early poem.

Are ye thought rapid! Can ye fly as far,
As instant as a thought?

To which any rider on the cowcatcher of the "Baltimore and Ohio" would now answer, 'Yes-sir-ee!'"

An Unprofitable Partnership. Some days ago Walter Burke saw in the New York Tribune an advertisement that a partner was wanted, and which invited any gentleman desirous of embarking in a safe and lucrative business to call upon Mr. Chester B. Howes, 847 Broadway. Burke called, and was introduced to a man named, for the occasion, Macdonald, who informed him that he could go into the produce business if he would advance five hundred dollars, as Macdonald himself was to advance the like sum. Burke had only four hundred dollars, but his partner to be kindly loaned him the remaining hundred, taking a note for the amount. The twain then went to the Artisan's Bank and there deposited the one thousand dollars in the name of Macdonald and Burke. On Monday, Macdonald informed Burke that some oats were to be sold that afternoon in New Jersey, and they would go over to negotiate for the purchase; but first he wished to go on 'Change and learn the prices. They parted, and the junior partner of the firm of Macdonald and Burke saw no more of his associate and senior, who had gone to the bank and drawn out nine hundred and ninety dollars, leaving only the unsatisfactory sum of ten dollars for the unlucky Burke.

LOCAL AND MAINE NEWS!

☞ See notice for Republican Caucuses on Friday evening.

The Levees of the Dutton Children, yesterday afternoon and evening, were attended by very large audiences and we are certainly justified in saying that no exhibition, that we have witnessed in Bangor has ever drawn forth greater expressions of delight and satisfaction. The children are truly wonderful in their minute perfection. Smaller than the famous Tom Thumb, (the largest of these fairy-like girls being but 28 inches in height) they are as fully developed in every physical and mental quality as children of their age usually are—and they in fact exhibit an intelligence beyond their years. They are 9 and 11 years of age respectively—26 and 28 inches high—and weigh, the one 18 and the other 15 pounds. The parents of these children are of the ordinary size of mortals, and have a son and daughter aged three and six years as large as other children of that age; but the little girls appear to have ceased growing physically at the age of two years, while their bodies were otherwise perfecting, and the mental development went on. As they now appear, they are certainly the most wonderful specimens of humanity that ever came under our observation. The songs and dances given by these children are very interesting, and the charming naivette of the little performers rarely fails to draw forth enthusiastic applause.

There will be another opportunity this afternoon, and also this evening, to see these wonderful specimens of miniature humanity.

They appear at Belfast to-morrow, at 3 and 8 o'clock.

There was assessed in the town of Oldtown for 1859 the sum of $14,286 88; a discount was made on all sums paid by the first day of August, up to which time the collector had paid into the town treasury the sum of $13,507 96 including the discount for prompt payment.—We call this pretty good business, and are willing to compare with any town of the size. And if any town can show a better record for the year, we will acknowledge the fact.

At the recent meeting of the Maine Historical Society, at Brunswick, Rev. Eugene Vetromile, formerly of this city, and now of Worcester, was elected a member.

An Opening for the Schoolmaster. In one of our down east towns stands a notice, inviting proposals for enclosing with a substantial fence a neighboring burial-place. The specifications are peculiar and curious—but they are no touch to the orthography of the notice. The fence is required to be built "of good stalk and free from injurious nots—the gates to be hung with gugins." It is required also that "the fence shall be built before the grass groes much, or else not till after haying." The opening is a promising one for some ambitious graduate.

St. Dominic's Church. We witnessed yesterday an interesting ceremony, the re-dedication of the first Catholic church of Portland—St. Dominic's, in State Street. It was erected in 1828, and has since been enlarged twice—the first time about fifteen years since, and, subsequently, about seven years since. Now it has been entirely remodelled and enlarged, and presents a very imposing appearance. The ceremonies of the dedication were performed by the Right Reverend Bishop Bacon, assisted by the Very Reverend Eugene Muller, V. G., and Rector of the Church; and by the Rev. Messrs. Daquis and Roussel of Montreal, Rev. J. O'Brien of Kingston, C. W., Rev. Messrs. Lacey, Callen, Galen and Caraher.—Portland Argus.

Rev. Wheelock Craig, a son of Elias Craig, Esq., of Augusta, but now settled in the ministry at New Bedford, was chosen Professor of Modern Languages by the Trustees of Bowdoin College, at the recent Commencement. The New Bedford Mercury expresses a wish that Mr. Craig will not [illegible]

A few days since the body of an infant was found on the shore of the Sandy River in New Sharon, near Prescott's point, by some man while mowing. It had probably been in the river a month, and had washed down from some place above, where it had been thrown in by some inhuman mother.—Mt. Vernon Times.

Mr. Andrew Nealy of New Sharon, lately lost his house by fire. Cause of fire, some defect in the chimney.

Brig Samuel G. Adams, of Camden, from Havana, for Falmouth, E., with sugar, put into quarantine at Newport the 16th, leaking in her upper works 14 inches per hour. The captain and three men were also sick.

It is thought that Mr. James Mitchell, the fireman who was so seriously injured at Portland on Sunday morning, will recover; although his escape is considered almost miraculous.

Construction of a Promissory Note.—A Judgment against the City!—Among the decisions announced by the Supreme Judicial Court, at their recent session in this city, was one of some interest to our citizens as well as to the legal fraternity. It was made in the case of Samuel Chadwick, Administrator, vs. City of Portland, which was an action commenced about three years ago upon a note for $3000,—given by the town in 1820, to the late Wm. Chadwick, and "payable at the pleasure of the town at any time after ten years" with interest at 4½ per ct. per annum.

Several applications had been made at different times within the last four or five years to the City Councils to pay the note,—or, if they wished to keep the money, to pay the ordinary and legal interest of 6 per cent.—all which applications received but little attention at the hands of the City Government. And at length a suit was commenced against the City upon the note, declaring upon it as a note payable in a reasonable time after the lapse of ten years. The case was argued to the full Court a year ago; and in their opinion recently delivered, the Court sustain the view of the note taken by the plaintiff, and decide that the plaintiff is entitled to recover—remarking that a reasonable construction should be given to the note, and that it was not reasonable to suppose that Mr. Chadwick intended to loan the money to the town or city for ever at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum.—Portland Advertiser.

Case of Capt. Holmes.—Yesterday afternoon Doctor Stockbridge, of Bath, was examined before Judges Clifford and Ware, in the U. S. Circuit Court, in relation to the health of Captain John A. Holmes. Dr. Stockbridge had been requested by counsel for Government to proceed to Wiscasset to ascertain the condition of the health of the prisoner. The Dr. gave it as his opinion that on the day he visited the prisoner, on Thursday last, he was not laboring under any organic disease—that his sickness was owing to debilitation and anxiety of mind, joined to confinement. He thought fresh air and travelling might benefit him. His health he found was much better than it had previously been. After a brief examination on various forms of disease, particularly the organic diseases, the subject was submitted to their Honors, who, after consultation and conversation with Counsel, decided that the 8th of September be the day on which the prisoner be brought before the Court to hear its decision on the exceptions raised and motion for a new trial.—Portland Adv.

Disasters.—Sch. Republic, of and from Bangor for New Haven with lumber, went ashore on Muskeget at 10 o'clock morning of 6th inst. She will probably come off without damage after discharging.

Brig Isabel, Beurmann, at New York from Port au Prince, reports—July 27, at Crooked Island Passage saw a schooner supposed to be the Gen. Veazie, Galacar, from Port au Prince for Boston, anchored at Tortugas Island; same date when passing Bird's Point, saw a brig (supposed to be British) ashore with fifteen wrecking vessels about her.

Officer A. J. Potter arrested in Amity, Aroostook County, John Frazier, indicted in Sagadahoc County for the crime of forgery, and arrived with him in this city last evening on his way to Bath.

Last Thursday afternoon, lightning struck a large tree standing within about four feet of the door of the house of Mr. Horace Kimball, at Alewife, Kennebunk. Two young men, Edward Kimball and Charles Adams, were standing in the door of the house when the lightning passed down the tree. Mr. K. was prostrated, but recovered immediately. Mr. Adams was thrown back into the house and was partially recovered in a short time, but remained insensible till the next morning. He is slowly recovering from the shock. Mr. Adams is the son of Mr. Benja. Adams of this town. The house is furnished with lightning rods, and was uninjured. The tree was much taller than the house, which its branches overhung.—Saco Democrat.

Firemen's Excursion. Deluge Co. No. 4, of this town, will leave home on the 17th inst. for an excursion to Bangor and Waterville. The Saco Cornet Band will accompany them. This well trained Fire Company is under the command of R. P. Tapley, Esq., and will doubtless acquit themselves well on an excursion, as they do at fires.—Saco Dem.

A Base Act.—During the fire on Sunday morning, while some of our citizens were engaged in clearing the shop of Mr. Dresser of its contents, one man was observed to be very busy, loading himself up with different articles. Instead of depositing the articles in the place selected for storing them, he endeavored to make off with them but was stopped by some of the police. Yesterday he was brought up before the Municipal Court and bound over to take his trial before the Supreme Judicial Court in November.—Portland Argus.

An interesting feature in the recent foreign news, is the determined attitude of the Roman legations, and the complaints of the Pope in relation thereto. It appears that the people of the Romagna are resolved upon self-government, and will have nothing more of the Pope and Cardinals in their assumed temporal capacity. This is a severe stroke at the Papal Government, as it threatens to withdraw about one-third of the area, and nearly one-half of the population from the Church's sway, to say nothing of the contagious influence, which would be thereby spread among the rest of the Pope's subjects. His Holiness has, accordingly, appealed to all the European powers, for protection and assistance. The response will be of much moment, not only to the people immediately concerned, but to the peace of Europe.—Boston Journal.

The poor girl who was shot in New York by her drunken paramour, is dead. When informed of it, he appeared "much dejected." He has plenty of money, but whether he will do as the New Orleans man did, bribe an officer and leave, or take the slower, but quite as certain process of being acquitted by a jury, is not stated. The former course is the quickest; but it is liable to the objection that it may make a return to New York inconvenient. The latter, although surer, is slower, and involves the necessity of being insane.—Providence Journal.

Death of a Veteran Printer.—Mr. George Sumner, of this city, died at his residence yesterday, at 12 o'clock, aged 54 years. Mr. S. was a printer by trade, and had wrought at the business for forty years.—Portland Argus.

A Curious Resurrection Case. A curious case occurred last week at Rome, in Franklin county, Ohio. Mrs. Peters, wife of a German of that name, after a short illness, was supposed to have died. Her husband made immediate arrangements for her funeral, having procured a coffin in this city. On placing her body in the coffin, a general perspiration was observed throughout the skin, which was reported to the husband with the suggestion that the burial be deferred, in the hope of reanimation. To this the husband objected, and had her interred the same day (Saturday). After the burial services were over, some relatives of the supposed deceased, who reside in this city, arrived at Rome to attend the funeral, which had already taken place, and, hearing the circumstances, caused the body, which had then been four hours in the grave, to be disinterred, when, to their surprise and joy, they found signs of life still remaining. Restoratives being administered, Mrs. Peters gradually recovered, was taken by her friends to this city, and is now well. We are informed that she refuses to again live with her husband. The circumstances connected with the affair are strange, indeed, and should undergo investigation.—Columbus (O.) Fact.

Ladies' Gaiter Boots.

A little glove stirs up my heart as tides stir up the ocean;
And snow-white muslin, when it flits wakes many a curious notion;
All sorts of lady fixings thrill my feelings, as they'd orter,
But little female gaiter boots are death, and nothing shorter!
And just to put you on your guard,
I'll give you, short and brief,
A small hotel experience,
Which filled my heart with grief:
Last summer, at the Bangor House,
I stopped a week or more,
And marked two "boot-lets" every morn
Before my neighbor's door:
Two boots with patent leather tips—
Two boots which seemed to say,
"An angel treads around in us"—
They stole my heart away;
And often in my nightly dreams
They swept before my face,
A lady growing out of them,
As flowers grow from a vase.
But, oh! one morn I saw a sight
Which struck me like a stone,
Some other name was on the book—
Those boots were not alone!
A great tall pair of other boots
Were standing by their side,
And off they walked that afternoon,
And with them walked—a bride.

Ladies, comment is unnecessary. Those Gaiter Boots came from MILLETT & BANGS,

Science Confounded

AND THE

WORLD ASTOUNDED!

BY THE

Great Cures

Made by DR. NORCROSS'

CELEBRATED REMEDIES!

Thousands who have been laid low by disease will attest to their healing powers. By the use of them they have been restored to health and vigor, and their gratitude is unbounded. O, could the world be wise—throw aside the poisonous and deleterious medicines they now use, which serve to reduce their physical strength, and bring on weakness and debility, and numerous other troubles—and take the long sought for medicines, which operate upon the whole system like a charm, and which are emphatically, as every one who ever used them will testify—

A sovereign balm for every wound,
A cordial for our fears.

O, for once be wise—don't longer delay. Delays are dangerous, and while you are taking the poisonous drugs, the disease may have so far progressed as to make it too late for hope. Now is the time to buy and try my medicines, and again to enjoy the Blessings of health. Try them—and you will never have cause to repent of it.

Dr. A. L. Norcross' Medicines.

Sugar Coated Vegetable Billous Pills.

In bringing this Medicine before the public, I have no desire to extol its medical properties above what it honestly deserves. I have used them in my practice for the last twenty years, and I have ever found them to be a sure remedy in eradicating disease from the system. Thousands who have used them would willingly attest to their healing qualities. Therefore I have no hesitation in warranting them to be the best Cathartic now before the public.—These Pills have more than a simple claim on the public for the following reasons: They are purely vegetable. They cause no pain or griping, although they are certain in their operations, and are perfectly harmless for male or female in any condition; for they do not weaken, but strengthen the whole system, by exciting every organ to a healthy action. They are, also, a sure remedy for all diseases that arise from impurities of the blood—such as Inflammation of the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels, Spleen, Bladder; Rheumatism, Bowel Complaints, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Languor, Debility, and last of all, warranted a sure cure for Dyspepsia, in all its forms, if they are taken judiciously. Numerous certificates might be had testifying to their good properties, but I feel willing to let them stand on their own merits. Single box, 25 cts—5 boxes $1.

JAUNDICE ELIXIR.

To purify, cleanse, and strengthen the Blood, and cause a healthy action of the Liver. Good in all cases of Debility. Warranted a sure cure for Jaundice. Price 50 cents.

GERMAN PILE SALVE.

This Salve is a safe and sure cure for this most distressing, and in many cases, dangerous disorder, which has baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of this country. It is prepared wholly of vegetable and animal substances, and can be used with perfect safety in all cases. Those afflicted with this most troublesome of disorders will here find that relief which has been denied them from other sources. One box will generally cure the most confirmed case. Numerous certificates might be had from those who have sought and obtained relief, proving its value and efficacy.

Price 50 cents per box.

CROTON LINIMENT.

For Chronic and Rheumatic Complaints.—This Liniment is a sure remedy for Headache, Sprains, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Spinal Affections, Palsy, Chilblains, &c. Let the rheumatic, halt, lame and palsied invalid, examine its qualities, and they will not be disappointed. Years of study and investigation have enabled the proprietor of the Croton Liniment to furnish a remedy extraordinary in its power over disease, no matter of how long standing. Price 50 cents.

Prepared only by the subscriber, at his Laboratory, at Brown's Corner, Vassalboro', Maine, to whom all orders must be directed. None genuine but those purchased of me or my agents.

SLATE!

THE Bangor and Piscataquis Slate Company having completed their arrangements for the manufacture of SLAB SLATE, are prepared to receive orders for any dimension which may be required, from a "paper weight" to a "Billiard Table."

The endless variety of uses to which this article may be applied, will readily occur to the Mechanic, and indeed to every observer of the progress of modern improvement in the arts of life.

Counters for Shops, Shelves, Hearths, Tables for Printers, Black Boards, for Schools, are among the many purposes for which this article will be in demand.

The peculiar texture or grain of the slate from the Brownville quarry, being entirely free from those knots, or cross grains, which are apt to disfigure almost all other slates, renders the surface of the manufactured article smooth and true; and it is insisted, and probably will not be denied, that it is the best Slate in the known world.

Having recently filled an order for Messrs. Wheeler & Lynde, of the Whig and Courier, they have kindly permitted their Tables to be examined at their office.

The Company can also supply almost any quantity and size of Roofing Slate, and solicit orders in any of the branches of their business. Specimens at their office. Apply to C. B. ABBOTT, Lower Steamboat (Coe's) Wharf, Bangor, Maine.

PATENT SOLID

COTTON BELTING!

HAVING received the Agency for the sale of this Belting, the subscriber would call the attention of Mill Owners, Machinists, and others interested in the use of an efficient and cheap Belt to samples which may be seen at this counting-room, Lower Steamboat (Coe's) Wharf.

This Belting is formed by weaving several layers of Duck solid in one body, and like leather it partakes of the strain in all its parts, and gives a gain of power over every other kind in passing the pulley. It is especially adapted for open Belts, and for heavy and main Belts, while its elasticity allows it to be used on very small pulleys, and where quick speed is required. It can be made of any desired length without lap or joint. The cost of this Belting being about one half that of leather, will recommend it to the attention of every customer. Any width, from 1 to 28 inches, furnished, and extra width and thickness made to order.

DR MOWES

VEGETABLE BITTERS.

THE Public is here presented with a new Tonic Alterative and Cordial Bitter compounded by DR MOWE of Lowell, the inventor and proprietor of Mowe's celebrated Cough Balsam These Bitters are purely vegetable as is testified by the distinguished chemist to whom they were submitted for analysis They are both pleasant to the palate and healing to the stomach, agreeable as a beverage, and efficacious as a medicine They are fully equal to the richest and most aromatic liquor in flavor and color Those in want of an appetizer before eating and those afflicted with bilious derangement nausea after taking food, with sour stomach, general debility of the system and other like ailments will find in these Bitters instant relief Travellers will find in them a curative for sudden illness They are superior to any bitters in the market As a protection against counterfeits these Bitters have been copyrighted by the District Court of the United States. The following certificate from an eminent chemist and a distinguished physician of Boston, furnish a sufficient guaranty of the quality of these Bitters—

BOSTON, August 4 1858

DR. DANIEL MOWE

Dear Sir—Having subjected the sample of Vegetable Bitters received from you to the most careful chemical analysis, I am unable to detect the slightest trace of any other than purely vegetable ingredients in them

I know of no medical composition likely to be more beneficial—as a tonic cordial and alterative than your Vegetable Bitters.

Very respectfully yours,
CHARLES T. CARNEY, Chemist,
136 Washington street, Boston.

BOSTON, August 4, 1858.

DR. DANIEL MOWE,

My Dear Sir—I have given the sample of Bitters received from you a careful examination, and find it to be composed of only such vegetable ingredients as are highly prized by our profession for their tonic medical properties. The formula submitted to me shows the compound to be a well-selected combination of valuable medical agents.

Yours, very truly, &c.,

American & Foreign Patents,

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late agent of U S Patent Office, Washington (under the Act of 1837,)

76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,

BOSTON

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications Bonds, Assignments and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch Researches made into American or Foreign works to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe and can prove that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able beyond question to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors

TESTIMONIALS

"I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS MASON
Commissioner of Patents

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

Boston February 8, 1858

Mr R H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their case and at very reasonable charges
JOHN TAGGART

From Sept 17th, 1857, to June 17th 1858 the subscriber in course of his large practice made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents R H EDDY

New England Ailments

AND

THE ONLY REMEDY!!

THE Eastern States, included in that section of the Union which is most widely known as "New England" contain a thrifty, industrious, intelligent people, who have achieved an uncommon degree of prosperity with a climate extremely trying to certain constitutions, and a soil of small fertility, they have contrived to surpass more favored communities in almost everything that conduces to social comfort and happiness Unfortunately they are occasionally so absorbed in business and mental cultivation that they neglect the precautions which are essential to bodily health Dyspepsia and physical debility are prevalent among all classes The first disease is produced, by inattention to the digestive organs, which are so susceptible of derangement Thousands are now paying the penalty of this neglect, and suffering daily the most trying pains, almost without a hope of relief They have come to believe that their ailment is chronic, and that they must bear it to the end It gratifies us exceedingly to announce to these afflicted individuals that they may now command a remedy of unquestionable potency and virtue which has never been found to fail in all cases of digestive weakness or derangement. Hundreds of tongues are ready to grow eloquent in praise of this wonderful conqueror of dyspepsia which is known as

DR J HOSTETTER'S,

Celebrated Stomach Bitters.

But that numerous class who devote themselves to literary and other sedentary pursuits, and in consequence of a want of physical exercise become the victims of languor and debility, without nerve or appetite, have hitherto sought in vain for some invigorating, life giving medicine, whose effects upon the system shall be both speedy and permanent—Physicians of eminence, and profoundly acquainted with the requirements of the human frame commend Hostetter's Bitters as the safest and swiftest stimulant to the recuperative energies of the system yet discovered It restores the appetite gives fresh vigor to the digestive organs sends the blood through the veins with a more lively current, corrects a tendency to depression of spirits and fits a man for the transaction of business with a cheerful heart and active mind. Unlike other medicines which have been devised for the same object the BITTERS do not act spasmodically or with a temporary power—the influence of the remedy is lasting. If a patient will but give some attention to securing proper exercise after the relief has been afforded, he need fear no return of the affliction The debility natural to the encroachments of years upon the bodily frame is also alleviated by this great strengthening medicine, thus enabling the aged to pass their declining days in physical ease; whereas they are now suffering from extreme weakness and nervousness To this venerable class of people Hostetter's Bitters may be commended as invaluable The proprietors of this invigorator have in addition, a deep gratification in assuring Nursing Mothers that they will find the BITTERS the best and safest of restoratives Very few medicines are sanctioned by physicians as proper to be administered during the period of nursing; and this has obtained an universal preference

Those who desire to purchase this great remedy for Dyspepsia and Debility should remember the precise title Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters It is put up in quart bottles, with the name Dr J Hostetter's Stomach Bitters blown on the bottle, and also stamped on the cap covering the cork, with the autograph of Hostetter & Smith on the label These things are important on account of the numerous counterfeits now in the market

Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburg, Pa, and also sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States Canada, South America and Germany

Sold wholesale and retail, by B F Bradbury and N S Harlow, Bangor, at retail by R. F Kimball, Oldtown; S Libbey Orono, L H Parker, Bucksport

P. K.

[From the Providence Advertiser]

THE foreign and domestic demand for Perry Davis & Son's great medicine—the Pain Killer—was never before so large as it has been of late and we think the time has arrived when the declaration may be made, without the possibility of refutation, that the City of Providence, in the State of Rhode Island of the United States of America, has furnished the entire habitable globe with a medicine which, in point of universality of demand, extent of usefulness complete efficiency for all the purposes for which it is designed, and widespread enduring popularity has never been equalled by any general patented medicine invented and issued either in Europe or America.

The universality of the demand for the Pain Killer is a novel, interesting, and surprising feature in the history of this medicine It is now regularly packed sent and sold in large and steadily increasing quantities not only to every State and Territory of the Union, and every Province of British America but to Buenos Ayres, Brazil Uruguay Peru Chili and other South American States to the Sandwich Islands to Cuba and other West India Islands to England and Continental Europe to Mozambique Madagascar, Zanzibar and other African lands to Australia, Singapore, Mauritius, and to Calcutta Rangoon and other places in India It has also been sent to China, and we doubt if there is any foreign port that is frequented by American missionaries travellers or traders into which the Pain Killer has not been introduced and been sought after by the people Very few people have any idea of the vast amount of business done by the proprietors of the Pain Killer

The extent of its usefulness is another great feature of this remarkable medicine It is not only the best ever known for bruises, cuts burns &c, but for dysentery or cholera or any sort of bowel complaint It is a remedy unsurpassed for efficacy and rapidity of action In the several great cities of British India, and in the West India Islands and other hot climates it has become the standard medicine for all such complaints as well as for dyspepsia, liver complaints and other kindred disorders For coughs and colds canker, asthma, and rheumatic difficulties it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing trials, and testimony to be an invaluable medicine The proprietors are in possession of letters from persons of the highest character and responsibility testifying, in unequivocal terms, to the cures effected and the satisfactory results produced, in an almost endless variety of cases by the use of this great medicine.

We are fully justified in saying that no medicine has ever gained a popularity rivaling so extensive and so enduring. Other preparations in imitation of it and containing some of the ingredients composing it, have, by means of extravagant efforts and deceptive statements gained a short lived patronage, but their inefficiency and worthlessness have soon become apparent, and they have proved disastrous speculations to their originators and proprietors The Pain Killer alone has been found the reliable and sure cure for the complaints and casualties for which it is designed Its reputation is enduring, and a fortune to its worthy proprietors and we may add that they are, in every sense of the word worthy men and citizens. No men make a better use of their large means, and none are more truly generous and benevolent. No one, that we are aware of envies them their good fortune, for it is believed that they have well deserved it.
